

ProQuest Dialog™ Fast Start Guide

Start here for the information you'll need to get a fast start to searching ProQuest Dialog.

How do I log in to ProQuest Dialog?

You can log in from the ProQuest Dialog Customer Information site using the unique User ID and Password provided by your Account Manager. Get a quick start by establishing a My Research account, a personal work space that will allow you to

- Log in to Dialog from any location using your My Research account sign-in details.
- Store documents and previous searches for future reference.
- Organize saved documents into different folders.
- Set preferences for search results, citation style and language.

For more information about establishing your My Research account, click here, then open the searching tab to view a brief pre-recorded training module, “My Research.”

What databases are available on ProQuest Dialog?

Your organization's access to ProQuest Dialog will include one or more of the following segments of content and numerous databases will be available in each category.

- Aerospace & Defense
- Automotive
- Chemistry
- Energy & Environment
- Engineering & Technology
- Food & Agriculture
- Healthcare
- Pharmaceutical & Biomedical
- Telecommunications & Computing

When logged into ProQuest Dialog, you can use the “See list” or “Change” links on the top navigation bar to choose databases or view additional information about each database by hovering over the information icon . To find more detailed information about these databases on our ProQuest Dialog Customer Information site, click here.

How can I learn more about searching ProQuest Dialog?

Find a variety of resources for learning more about searching ProQuest Dialog on our Customer Information site including:

- Training modules – view brief pre-recorded modules for a quick overview of searching in Basic and Advanced search and working with My Research located here and open the Searching tab.

➔ Basic Search Features	VIEW MODULE	READ TRANSCRIPT
➔ Advanced Search Features	VIEW MODULE	READ TRANSCRIPT
➔ My Research	VIEW MODULE	READ TRANSCRIPT

- ProQuest Dialog At A Glance On-Demand Modules – view short modules illustrating some of the exciting new features, including language translation, set searching and citation look-up located here and open the Searching tab.
- ProQuest Dialog demos – review PDF documents highlighting searches in different content areas using Basic and Advanced search in single and multiple databases located here and open the Searching tab.
- Printed documentation – for a fast start download our Quick Reference Card or for more detailed documentation, download our Frequently Asked Questions document.

➔ Quick Reference Card

➔ Frequently Asked Questions

How do I contact the Global Customer Support Team when I have questions about searching ProQuest Dialog?

Contact our Dialog Knowledge Centers around the world by telephone for live, one-on-one search assistance by our expert Information Consultants – 24 hours a day, Monday through Friday, or contact us by e-mail at Customer@dialog.com for a timely response to your query.

U.S. & Canada: 800 334 2564
U.K.: 00 800 333 42564
Other Countries: choose your location